CROWDS OF COLLEGE MEN IN THE STREETS, BUT NO DISORDER-PREPARATIONS FOR THE

BIG FOOTBALL GAME TO-DAY. New-York is once again in the throes of the football malady. The annual attack seized the city early yesterday afternoon and rapidly assumed an acute form. Symptoms of the mania developed soon after the teams from Princeton and New-Haven had arthe teams in the teams and timid little violets, which chrysanthemums and differ little violets, which strangely belied the character of their wearers, who have never been credited with any overwhelming amount of timidity and fear either on the football field or in backing to win the men who wear the hipe of Yale. The best of feeling has always existed en the Tigers and the Elis, and the orange and black of the former and the blue of the latter

One advantage of playing the annual game be than Thanksgiving was apparent last evening. The rowdyism and the exaggerated enthusiasm which have characterized previous nights before the game were conspicuous by their absence, and lthough the hotels and theatres and cafes were thronged with college men, there was little or none of the old-time ruffianism and drunkenness.

NO HEAVY BETTING.

The betting on the game has been comparatively light. Princeton insists upon odds of 2 to 1, and with a sad recollection of the money lost at those terms a year ago, refuse to offer more than 5 to 3, and few takers are found at the odds. A bet was made between two prominent dumnt of Princeton and Vale of $100 to $10 that Yale would not score, the short end being taken by the Princeton man. A few bets of $100 to $75 on Yale were also made at the Fifth Avenue and

The city is crowded with football enthusiasts, and an immense crowd will witness the contest this afternoon. The ex-'Varsity men are here in large numbers, and among those who used to wear the canvas jacket who will witness the game to-day are Jesse Riggs, Johnston Poe. Edwin Lewis, House Janeway, Heffelfinger, Rhodes, Knapp, Knipe, Osgood and many others.

All the preparations for staging the big play have been completed, and everything is in geadiness to receive the vast throng which will surge through the gates of Manhattan Field this afternoon. The ele-vated roads on the Sixth and Ninth ave. lines will put on extra trains after 12 o'clock, and a force of 400 policemen will take care of the crowd at the

In these days the ordinary methods of transportation have been found quite inadequate to meet the comfort of the long-haired, strong-limbed athlete who is reverently pointed out as the line-breaker on such and such a team, or the bucking halfback on such and such another aggregation. It would never do to expose him to the common peril incident to rail-road travel, and so special trains with special crews are provided to transport him with especial care to the field of battle.

Both the Yale and Princeton team adopted this expensive but triumphant line of march, and two chartesed trains almost simultaneously unloaded their precious cargoes at the Grand Central Station at Forty-second-st., and the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City.

chartesed trains almost simultaneously unloaded their precious cargoes at the Grand Central Station at Forty-second-st., and the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City.

The men who are to struggle for the honor and glory of Yale arrived in this city at about 5 o'clock and went immediately to the Pinza Hotel, which for the first time has become a football headquarters. This change from the old Yale headquarters at the Fifth Avenue Hotel was made necessary owing to the boisterous singing and cheering of the New-Haven men at the downtown resort. The appearance of the Yale team in the railroad station created more excitement than a band of Dahomies would have done. Travellers stopped to gaze at them, and their identity was noisily proclaimed by several cabiles, who shouted "Dem's de Yalesses."

Those who expected to see living pictures of the lame, the halt and the blinds were disappointed, showed no trace or mark of the treatment, and has fully recovered. Jerrems and Thorne, both of whom, according to reports, should have limped, failed to do so, and both, to all outward appearances, are as sound in limb as they ever were.

YALE HAS NO CRIPPLES.

YALE HAS NO CRIPPLES.

Every man, in fact, with the exception of Armong, appeared to be in the pink of condition, and as well prepared physically to meet the Princeton eleven as he was a week ago when he faced the men from Cambridge. Dr. "Josh" Hartwell, who men from Cambridge. Dr. "Josh" Hartwell, who has been with the team all his week, substantiated this outward evidence. "Our men." he said, "will go upon the field in just as good condition as they were one week ago. The practice this week has been extremely light, and the team has only lined up for one ten-minute half. The time has been devoted principally to resting, with just enough work to keep the men on edge. There can be no complaint of putting crippled players into the game."

Speaking of the result of the game, Dr. Hartwell said: "I think it will be extremely close and exciting, and we have not for a moment under-satimated Princeton's strength. There will be no sluwring to the strength.

saturated Princeton's strength. There will be no slugging or rough play."
Whatever may be the public sentiment regarding Captain Hinkey, it certainly does not prevent the Yale alumni and undergraduates from being most enthusiastic about him. At the New-Haven end of the line the Yale men cheered him lustily, and many prominent graduates were present to greet him on his arrival here. Among those at the hotel when the team arrived were ex-Judge Henry 2B. Howland, George A. Adee, W. W. Skiddy and Julian Curtis.

The Yale line-up will be exactly the same as that of last Saturday—F. A. Hinkey at left end; Beard, left tackle; McCres, left guard; Stillman, centre; Minkey, right guard: Murphy, right tacker, Minkey, right end; Adee, quartierback; Thorne and Jerrems, halfbacks, and Butterworth, fullback.
Should Thorne be retired, Captain Hinkey will arobably take his place back of the line. If it is found that Armstrong is still unable to fill that position. In such case Bass or Hatch will take Rinkey's position at end. Should Butterworth be compelled to retire, Letton will replace him. The DIVERSION FOR THE PRINCETON MEN.

The night preceding the great game has also been a trying one for those who are to take an active The strict training prohibits the men from indulging in the usual forms of amusements and the time between dinner and bedtime has passed slowly and dismally. Last evening the Princeton management introduced a new scheme for whiling away the hours and diverting the thoughts of the men from the one absorbing topic of football. Marshall P. Wilder was engaged to relieve the monot ony and the strain. The team, when dinner was finished, gathered in Parlor H of the Murray Hill Hotel and listened to the nimble-witted Marshall for two hours. The plan proved a complete success, and when the men went to bed at 10 o'clock all apparent worry and anxiety concerning the coming battle had disappeared.

The men are in the best possible trim and are confident they will give Yale all she can attend to. The practice this week has been of the greatest benefit to the men, and they will appear in the field benefit to the men, and they will appear in the field in far better shape than when they faced Pennsylvania three weeks ago. This is the way the team will line up: Brown, left end: Holly, left tackle; Wheeler, left guard; Riggs, centre; Rhodes, right guard; Taylor, right tackle; Trenchard, right end; Ward, quarter; Rosengarten and Poe, haifbacks, and Cochran, fullback in all probability neither Rosengarten nor Cochran will be able to play the game out, and Armstrong and Reiter will be substituted for them.

POLICE WILL NOT ALLOW BRUTALITY. IF THE GAME BECOMES A PRIZE FIGHT IT WILL BE STOPPED-TO CHECK ROWDYISM IN THE TENDERLOIN.

"The football game between Yale and Princeton at Manhattan Field to-morrow will have to be a purely scientific one, and not an exhibition of brutality," said Superintendent Byrnes yesterday The Superintendent announced that he had given orders to stop the game if it proved to be any thing but a purely scientific contest. He has completed all the arrangements for policing Manhattan Field and protecting the crowd. Inspector Peter Conlin will be in command of the police forces, and the Superintendent instructed the Inspector that under no circumstances must be allow anything of a brutal nature to occur in the game. Inspector Conlin has orders to stop the game at the first sign of any brutal proceeding. Superintendent Byrnes said further: "I am de-termined that the football game between the two college teams at Manhattan Field to-morrow shall not assume the character of a brutal prize fight. There is no violation of law in playing a putely scientific game of football, but when it degenerate into an exhibition of brutality, in which the into an exhibition of brutality, in which the players adopt prize-fighters' tactics, and maim each other for life, it becomes a violation of law, and I do not propose to permit such an infraction. The games in the past have been nothing more or less than what can be termed brutal exhibitions. The players took the parts of brutal prize-fighters. The Superintendent has also given instructions to the Tenderloin police to prevent also the rowdyism by the students and their friends which usually prevails at night after the big game. Special policemen will be detailed at the theatres and other places of amusement where the students usually congregate, to prevent any disorder. The police will not hesitate to arrest any of the football enthusiasts who may disturb the peace.

HARVARD OFFERS A PLAN.

A SUGGESTION THAT NEXT YEAR THE WINNER OF THE YALE-HARVARD GAME PLAY THE WINNER OF THE PRINCETON-PENN-SYLVANIA CONTEST.

Boston, Nov. 30.-The defeat of Harvard on Thursday in their contest with the University of Pennformal meeting of Harvard alumni. The great cause of complaint was the handicapped manner in which the crimson had to meet the wearers of the red and blue. The absurdity of playing two games within five days was sufficiently demonstrated last year, it was argued, when Yale, after vanquishing Harvard, was beaten on Thanksgiving Day by Princeton. Yale learned the lesson last year, and this year positively refused to play Princeton until to-morrow, or a ful week ager the Harvard contest. Harvard, it was argued, went into yesterday's game severely crippled to this, came the tiring journey to Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania boys, on the contrary, went into the battle after three solid weeks of rest. After discussing at length the situation, a plan was hit upon which will be strongly urged before the college world. It was suggested that next year Harvard play Yale and Princeton play Pennsylvania on the same day. The winners can then name a day, say, within two weeks, and play off for their championship. The great and final contest will then be played with each eleven having had an equal amount of rest and time for recuperation. The losers of the double contest could play off for third and fourth places. This, is was thought, would satisfy all parties interested and the college world in general.

THE YALE-HARVARD FRESHMEN GAME MEN WHO WILL LINE UP FOR THE CONTEST AT CAMBRIDGE TO-DAY.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 36.-The twelfth annual Harvard-Yale freshman football game will be played to-morrow afternoon on Soldiers' Field. In the series, Harvard has five games to her credit, and Yale four, while three have been ties.

The centre of the Harvard team is held up by "Teddy" Hoague, who is heavy and strong, although the rest of the team is rather light. The guards are Bouve and Woodward, both of whom play well, and each comes near to the 200-pound mark. The tackles are the weakest portion of the team, owing to the number of changes necessarily made on account of injuries to the players. The men now holding the injuries to the players. The men now holding the positions are Brown and Hoimes. Both are strong, quick men, and but for their newness to the positions, would be excellent. The ends-Bull and Woods-are quick and good at breaking up interference, and they follow the ball well. Scott, the captain of the team, plays quarterback. He is cool and an accurate passer, but is somewhat slow at times. Knox and Redpath are two excellent backs and may be counted on to do good work. Ginasch, who has taken the place of Manning at fullback, is strong in breaking up interference, and will be used as a line halfback when Yale has the ball.

New-Haven, Nov. 30 (Special).-The Yale freshman football eleven yesterday finished their prac-tice preliminary to their annual game with the Harvard freshmen. The annual contest is played alternately at New-Haven and Cambridge, and this year it is due to take place in Cambridge. The Yale team went to Boston this afterno This game promises to be a close one, although Yale loses two of her best players, as Letton, fullback, and Rodgers, tackle, will be in New-York as substitutes on the 'varsity team. The Yale eleven defeated the Columbia freshmen 52 to 0, while Harvard, '98, won from the Columbia men by only a score of 36.

This is the twelfth annual game between the two colleges and the record now stands: Yale freshmen won 4, Harvard won 5, tie 3. This year's Yale team has been trained by the former Yale player, "Tom" Dyer, who is prevented from playing with the 'var-sity by a bad shoulder David B. Lyman, another former Yale substitute, has done much to develop the Yale freshmen this fall.

E. L. Jones, of Chicago, was the captain of the eleven, but was laid up for a time and M. W. Ely, of Brooklyn, was chosen in his place. Jones is an Andover man and plays halfback. PENNSYLVANIA'S TALL TALK. THE QUAKERS MAY CHALLENGE YALE, OR WILL CLAIM THE CHAMPIONSHIP IF THE BLUE LOSES TO-DAY.

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 .- A rumor was freely circulated here to-day to the effect that the University of Pennsylvania football team had decided to send a challenge to Yale in order to settle all dispute as to the championship. When questioned upon the subject, a director of the University of Pennsyl vania Athletic Association said:

vania Athletic Association said:

No action has yet been taken on the question of again challenging Yale, and the matter has not been officially considered. I can say, however, that should Yale Jefeat Princeton to-morrow it is highly probable that a special meeting of the athletic association will be called to consider the advisability of sending a challenge. Then if Yale should again refuse to play us I cannot see that our file to the championship could be disputed. On the other hand, if Yale should consent to play, I am confident that we would place another victory to our credit. Of course, should Princeton be victorious to-morrow, there would be no occasion for our sending a challenge to Yale, as we have already administered an overwhelming defeat to the Tigers.

A PRINCETON MAN'S DISGRACE.

The first college man to fall into the hands of the police last night was a Princeton man, Claiborn While the crowd was emerging from the Metropolitan Opera House shortly before midnight Adams stood in front of the entrance and yelled at the top of his voice, "Get me a cab!" The crowd saw him fall headlong upon his face. Much excitement prevailed and many thought he might have died suddenly. Policeman Monaghan, of the West Thirtieth-st. station, hurried up and called a cab, into which the young man was placed. On the way to the station the prisoner almost wrecked the cab. He was fast asleep when they reached the station and two policemen had to carry him in. The charge of intoxication was made against him.

OFFICERS OF THE N. J. A. C. FOOTBALL TEAM.

The football team of the New-Jersey Athletic Club held a meeting in the clubhouse at Berger Point, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: James E. Sullivan, manager; Walter J. Masterson, captain.

FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE GYMNASTICS.

A preliminary meeting of the Intercollegiate Gymnastic Association was held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night. G. H. Perkins, of the University of Pennsylvania, was chosen temporary chairman, and A. G. Bugbee, of Dartmouth, secretary.

A constitution was framed and will be submitted to the members of the association at a meeting which is to be called in the near future by Mr. Perkins. A score of colleges, including Vale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania and the University of Chicago, were represented at the meeting.

DANGER TO THE NATY.

PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING NEW SHIPS WILL BE STRONGLY RESISTED AT THE COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS.

Washington, Nov. 30 (Special).-There is great danger that Secretary Herbert's recommendation that the building of three new battleships and twelve torpedo-boats for the Navy be authorized at the coming session will fall upon deaf ears in Congress, and it is certain that a proposition to authorize any new vessel whatever, of any de-scription, will be stoutly resisted. Although the Committee on Naval Affairs of the House of Representatives has sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the Naval Appropriation bill in that body, Chairman Sayers, of the Appropriations Committee, has set his face like a flint, not only against every proposition to increase future liabilities of Government by authorizing contracts for river and harbor improvements or new public buildings also by authorizing the building of one or more new ships for the Navy. In conversation with a Tribune correspondent to-day, Governor Sayers declared that he would fight to the bitter end every proposition, from whatever quarter it might every proposition, from whatever quarter it might come, to lay a foundation for future or contingent labilities, and he seemed to be confident of success. He can probably depend upon a majority of his committee to back him in such a contest.

On the other hand, the House Committee on Naval Affairs will be unanimously and earneasty in favor of authorizing some new ships, in order that the work which has made such favorable and rapid progress the last lifteen years shall not be suspended, and many of the advantages agained lost to the country. Whether that committee will favorably consider Secretary Herbert's recommendations as to the type and class of vessels to be authorized remains to be seen, in any event, a battle royal in the House of Representatives may be safely expected when the Naval Appropriation bill is brought up for consideration.

TAKEN AT HIS WORD,

From The Queenslander, Australia.

The pride that apes humility is as often found in the bush as elsewhere. "Squatter Jones"—let us call him so—was travelling in the Northwest, and, being careless as to attire, and, like the Moor, somewhat rude in speech, he met with but little courtesy from a well-known station housekeeper on the Thomson. He took his rebuff in good part, and the Thomson. He took his rebuff in good part, and the housekeeper learned that the visitor was a person of some importance. In her applogles she said: "I thought you was a workin' man, sir." "And so I am," he replied. "We are all working men in the West. Why, years ago I was droving, and fencing"—and so on, the usual bush story of the man who is not ashamed of having risen, and with the usual conclusion, "and I'm still one of the working men of Queensland." "Ah, yes, sir!" followed the amiable housekeeper, "I could see at the first as to how you was no gentleman!" So the pride that apes humility has its fail as well as the other kind." CYCLISTS OFF ON THEIR TWENTY-FOUR-HOUR JOURNEY

ONTINUED INTEREST IN THE TOURNAMENT AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN-RESULTS OF

The pick of the hundreds of wheelmen entered in the tournament at the Madison Square Garden rode in the races yesterday, and their clever work delighted the large crowds present. The fact that the great twenty-four-hour race was to begin in the evening did not deter the management of the meeting from taking pains to arrange a good programme of shorter races for both amateurs and professional riders, and they were all decided before 9:30 o'clock p. m. The attendance in the afternoon was good. William Martin, "the racer from Racersville," who delighted his admirers by winning both the ten-mile and twenty-five mile races, told a Tribune reporter that his home is in Lowell, Mass., and not in Detroit, as the programmes of the races have stated.

The preliminary and semi-final heats in all the races were run off in the afternoon, and the finals

The final heat and race in the half-mile heat ace, Class A. was won by W. A. Barbeau, of the Riverside Wheelmen, of this city. It was a pratty race, and "Tom" Butler, the Boston boy, led until the last lap. Here Barbeau shot to the front, and won after a desperate struggle by several feet. The Hoston contingent was sadiy disappointed over But-

ZIMMERMAN BEATEN AGAIN.

The next race on the evening's programme was the five-mile race for professionals. Zimmerman as usual, had to make the pace at the start. He de it slow for a mile, then Wheeler went ahead. At the fourth mile Martin led, and as he rushed from the rear was cheered. Then Edwards, the English champion, went to the front, only to have the lead taken from him a moment afterward by Wheeler. Zimmerman then shot up with that ir-resistible rush of his and piloted the field until half a mile from the finish. The pace was then a trackburning one, and every man was doing his best. Wheeler took second place from Martin, and also took the lead from Zimmerman. These two men work together like brothers and never foul each other when riding. Zimmerman spurted desperately on the last lap and he and Wheeler went under the wire on nearly even terms. Zimmerman's number was first hung up, the man at the blackboard evi-dently thinking Zimmerman is infallible. Wheeler was announced the winner a moment after, however, and the crowd cheered uproariously. It was the kind of racing they like to see.

Butler, the Boston boy, set his friends wild with excitement and lov when he won the one-mile lap race for Class B men, and broke the indoor record, made by himself in a similar race in the garden on Tuesday night, of 2 min., 22 2-5 sees. He knocked it down to 2 min., 20 secs. Butler won easily after leading all the way, and his clubmate, McDuffee, was second.

Alex. Verheyen, the crack sprinter from Germany, took the two-mile scratch race for profes-sionals, beating Wheeler and Martin. The Englishman, Edwards, fell in the last half-mile and was badly shaken up. He was in second place at the time. His trip to this country so far has not been

THE TWENTY-FOUR-HOUR RACE. The star contest of the bicycle tournament, the twenty-four-hour international championship race for professionals, was called for 9:30 o'clock. He said he was ill. out dismounting, did not start. He said he was ill.
At exactly 9:40 the starter's pistol cracked, and the men were off on their journey. William Martin, of Lowell, Mass., led the procession, closely

The first mile was nade in 2 minutes 41 seconds by Lesna, the Frenchman, Martin and Waller. The foreigners are used to a fast pace in the long-dis-tance bicycle races, and Lesna started off to make one in this race. The large number of men on the track and the evident desire of some of the least known of them to distinguish themselves early in the race, resulted in a series of mishaps. Elireich and Swank were the first to fall. Martin, Lesna and Starbuck then had trouble with their machines and all took "croppers." The score at the end of the first hour, 10:40 p. m.,

was as follows:

At 11:04 Martin withdrew from the race. He had hurt himself in his fail. He had made twenty-nine miles and four laps. THE SCORE AT MIDNIGHT.

Martin, in spite of his supposed withdrawal, came on the track again at 11:40, but went off again. He had made thirty-four miles. Waller and Starbuck had fails at 12:10, but they soon returned to the track. Albert, while spurting, went too high on the track and fell over the outside rail, into the Madison Square entrance. He fell six or seven feet, and sprained his wrist.

About 12 o'clock the crowd began to thin out, and only the most enthusiastic wheelmen were left.

TALK ABOUT TURF AFFAIRS. A LAW TO COVER RACETRACK AND OTHER FORMS OF GAMBLING. A committee appointed by the Bar Association of this city is at work considering the constitutional amendment in regard to betting on racing and other forms of gambling. There are something like fifty different laws relating to gambling on the statute books of this State. Moreover, the Penal Code covers a lot of ground which relates to racetrack betting or gambling. Many of the statutes conflict with each other; hence the lawyers who compose the Bar Association's committee are anxious to straighten matters out. They will also draw up a bill, which is to be presented to the Legislature, that will cover all the different phases of betting on races It is decided that to prevent the city from being overrun with poolrooms severe penalties should be proposed for such violations of the law as were formerly winked at. Some racing officials believe that the position of the racetracks will be the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts not he Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them, and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c. and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every packag;, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not except any substitute if offered.

ly unfortunate bookmaker told in a doleful manner to some friends at Delmonico's: "How difficult it was to get a 'good man' with capital! Why, if things keep on I will be compelled to put up my own bank roll."

The bookmakers who are wealthy are extremely scarce, and can easily be counted on one's fingers.

G. Peabody Wetmore disagrees with his associates on the racing question, so far as the Coney Island Jockey Club is concerned. Mr. Wetmore takes the ground that the club might declare off its meetings and stakes if it chose to do so. His experience at Monmouth Park did not increase his confidence in racing syndicates; in fact, he has no faith in the administration of the turf.

NO ENGLISH TEAM LIKELY TO COME OVER. London, Nov. 30 -In an interview this morning Secretary Herbert, of the Amateur Athletic Association of England, said he feared it would be imrequired for a voyage to the United States and the training necessary to enable them to engage in an international contest. He expressed his belief that an international contest would, however, soon be arranged. He thought it probable that the New-York Athletic Club would send over a few of their best men to take part in the English championship meetings in 1835. WESTERN ATHLETES BREAK RECORDS. Stillwater, Minn., Nov. 20 .- J. P. Andrews, champion long-distance skater of Washington County, broke the world's record vesterday for a long jump on skates, by jumping eighteen feet. Los Angeles Nov. 30 .- Fay Stephenson, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, yesterday broke the Pacific Coast record for 100 miles for bicycles. Time-4 hours, 47 minutes, 11 seconds.

A CASE FOR ARBITRATION.

From The Chicago Tribune. From The Chicago Tribune.

"What a lot of humbug there is about this vermiform appendix business!" exclaimed Ruggles, looking up from the newspaper he was reading. "The idea that everybody is in danger of dying from getting a grape seed or a bit of apple skin lodged in a portion of his anatomy that few persons ever heard of till a few years ago is absurd. It's a fad. That's what it is."

heard of till a few years ago is absurd.

That's what it is."

"What's a fad?" inquired Croxton, laying aside the magazine he had been reading.

"This appendicits business."

"It's something everybody's remotely exposed to, isn't it?"

"Not by any means. It isn't at all certain that everybody has got a vermiform appendix."

"Oh, it isn't!"

"Not at all. I don't believe I have one."

"Well, you have, just the same. You are built like other men."

other men."
"I don't believe it."
"I don't believe it."
"You say you have no vermiform appendix?"
"I do, and I'm willing to bet on it."

"How much?"
"Fifty dollars."
Croxton reflected a moment.
"I'll go you." "I'll go you."
"And leave the matter to a doctor-my doctor, for stance."
"Yes."
"Well, you've lost. My doctor will tell you "

"It looks as if you'd put up a neat little job on me, doesn't it?"
"Rather. But I'll not be hard. I'll call it a new slik hat and let it go at that."
"H'm! Your doctor relieved you of your vermiform appendix, did he?"
"He did."

"He did."
"And I suppose he preserved it carefully in a jar

"H'm! Got it yet?"

"Yes."

"Ha! You bave?"

"That is, I-er"

"That's what I suspected. Your little scheme isn't exactly the first of its kind, but there's a way out. of it, you see."

"But, look here"

"But, look here"

"Don't try to crawl out of it. Ruggles. You bet me $50 you hadn't any vermiform appendix, and it seems you have, by your own confession. There was nothing stipulated as to where you kept it. The horse isn't on me. It's on you, Ruggles. But I won't be hard on you. Let it be a first-class canvasback duck and terrapin dinner for two, with extras. That'll make it easy. It won't come to more than $20 or so."

"Croxton," said Ruggles, feebly, "let's arbitrats."

From The Chicago Tribune. During the full in the conversation one of the proud Gotham beauties in the box happened to giance at the stage.

"Dear me!" she exclaimed, greatly displeased.
"It's the opera! I thought we were at the horse show."
